Dear Roger,

Your brief and appendix are impressive! They also are an important record for our history. If I had been the judge you'd have won hands down. The prejudice is I think apparent and aside from political considerations may well have been influenced by the influence the Times has.

I'll be writing Randy when I can. I found his affidavit quite persuasive, a think I found a minor mistake in it (that head chart was as I recall by Finck) and perhaps a typo.

Unless you for some reason used it as a marker you missed sending the copy to Frank Martin, your mailing label enclosed.

I think you will find in the Afterword of NEVER AGAIN! which you may well be able to get before I have an copies (and if you do please let me know because the mailing of copies is now burdensome for me) what will amplify your case if you get a trial. If there are oral arguments you should have that knowledge before then even though as I understand it on appeal you are limited to what is in the record.

I think you did a remarkable fine job and I can only imagine the costs of all kinds!

However, I had trouble recognizing your client from your brief.

Best wishes,

Harry
